

David A. Stanforth, B.A., MBA

David Stanforth is Director and Head of Companion Diagnostics R&D at Dako North America, an Agilent Technologies Company, with over 15 years IVD experience in global product development. David has been leading the Companion Diagnostics R&D team since 2013 and has held positions in Systems Development/ Integration, Pathology Workflow Applications, Program Management and Corporate Business Development with Dako in the US and in Denmark. Prior to joining Dako, David managed the Ophthalmic Pathology Laboratory at the Doheny Eye Institute in Los Angeles, CA.